Florida Found Not Guilty of Tax Evasion

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A U.S. District Court jury today found George H. Florida innocent of charges that he evaded about $84,000 in federal income taxes for 1951-55, inclusive.

The jury received the case about 10 a.m. after hearing legal instructions from Judge J. Smith Coffey.

The verdict was returned in less than two hours.

The jury said it had found Florida innocent on all three counts of the indictment against him. One count had been lodged for each of the three years involved.

The wealthy Osceola business man had been on trial since April 12.

Defense testimony was presented yesterday.

Eighteen witnesses testified individually that Florida enjoyed a reputation for "honesty, integrity, veracity and being a good law abiding citizen." In Osceola, Mississippi County, and eastern Arkansas. Twenty-two other witnesses testified to the same effect in a group to save time.

Herbert A. Norris, Memphis accountant, testified that Florida paid income taxes during the years 1947-52 on income he did not draw and that he was entitled to take this income later without payment of taxes.

In his summation Leon Catlett defense attorney told jurors they had to find Florida "knowingly and willfully evaded taxes before they could bring back a conviction."

Assistant U. S. Atty. James W. Gallman summed up the government's case which in effect commanded that Florida diverted business funds to his personal use to avoid payment of taxes.

Catlett said Florida was an "outside man" and did not handle any bookkeeping or accounting for companies in which he had interests. He had nothing to do with the policies of these companies, Catlett said.

Most of the enterprises mentioned in testimony were Memphis firms engaged in housing construction.

Strikers Try to Blow Up a Coal Mine

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The U. S. Weather Bureau today said severe storms might occur this afternoon and tonight in an area which includes parts of Benton, Carroll and Boone Counties.

The bureau's advisory follows:

"Thunderstorms are expected to develop in northeast Oklahoma, southeast Kansas and southwest Missouri by mid-afternoon today. A few of these thunderstorms are expected to become severe with large hail and damaging winds during period from 3 p.m. CST to 9 p.m. CST in area along and 80 miles either side of line from Ponca City, Okla., to Springfield, Mo. This includes portions of Benton, Carroll and Boone Counties.

A second bomb failed to explode when the fuse sputtered out.

The truck was headed for a ramp at Chavies when the dynamite went off under the wheels.

One of the guards on duty at the Ulvah Coal Co. camp was injured slightly by the midnight explosion.

"It the dud had exploded," his companion said, "neither of us would be here now." He declined use of his name.

The United Mine Workers Union is on strike for a new contract in Eastern Kentucky's coal fields.

The UMW wants a $2 daily wage increase for a $2.25 daily basic wage.

Paul Taylor, one of the co-owners, said the explosion damaged his scales but "we will be operating today even if we have to estimate the weight of the trucks."

A volley of gunshots fired from a truck mine on a hillside about three miles away, as the train approached, sent one of two State Police cruisers away to investigate.

The other was at the ramp when the bomb exploded.

With regard to Berlin,

The Western terms — tying together arrangements for Berlin, German rearmament and European security — run directly counter to Soviet demands which were restated Wednesday without modification after a rival conference of Communist-bloc statesmen in Warsaw.

In prospect was another head-on East-West collision at the Geneva foreign ministers' conference opening May 11.

The Western powers are determined to stand firm against the Soviet demand that they end their occupation of Berlin and make that part of the city a demilitarized international area.

But British Prime Minister Macmillan's government fears that insistence on the whole Western plan or no change in the present setup may (1) force the Allies into an ignominious retreat from their present bargaining stance, and (2) might prod Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev into action around Berlin that will explode a nuclear war.

In meetings outside the conference room, British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd pleaded with Secretary of State Christian A. Herter and French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville to toe the divorce of Berlin proposals from plans for any over-all German or European settlement.

Chicago Is

Now a Deep
Sea Port

By WILLIAM J. CONWAY

CHICAGO (AP) — This big city on the edge of the inland prairie joined the ranks of the world's deep-sea ports today.

The Prins Johan Willem Friso, a 100-ton Dutch freighter, arrived on Chicago at 6:45 a.m. She was the first ocean vessel to make the run through the new St. Lawrence Seaway to Chicago.

The 353-foot Friso, winner of the race to Chicago by a wide margin, rode at anchor in Lake Michigan until a midmorning welcome at Navy Pier.

Capt. Sander Klein, a stocky, ruddy man, was asked by a newsman how his trim, gray, diesel-driven craft managed to be first to reach the eastern end of the St. Lawrence-Great Lakes water route.

"We got a motor," he replied with a laugh.

The Friso cut a watery trail along the entire distance from the deepened St. Lawrence route and proclaimed to the world that Great Lakes ports now are open to deep-sea vessels.

The Friso made the trip from the entrance of the locks, near Montreal, to Chicago in a little more than 4½ days.

A part of the welcome, a party of Indians set out in tugs to greet the Friso.

The first American flagship to make the run through the new Seaway to Chicago, the Santa Fe, approached Chicago with the expectation of docking late in the day.

Dear Dorothy Dix: I love a boy very much and am almost sure he likes me. However, when we're dancing he never says a word and when I meet him on the street I always have to speak first. Mom Provides Fun on Teen-age Dates

Dear Dorothy Dix: I am a mother, 37 years old. I have a son, 19, and a daughter, 16. Our home has always been the hangout for a bunch of kids. They enjoy young people, enter into their pleasures and cut up with them. When they go out on dates, however, I insist that I go along. I tell them I've had one son, and my husband is still here, but the kids say I don't act like another mother. Like one of themselves. I don't know what to do — go or stay home. Is it possible that a teenager could want a mother along on a date? S. L.

During the business meeting, plans were made for a dinner meeting to be held on May 20. "A Seed Shall Serve" by Charlie May Simon was reviewed by Mrs. John McCullum. Mrs. L. J. Whitman stumped the panel with her secret, which was that she hid a friend, May Smith White, who was an Arkansas poet.

For refreshments the hostesses served strawberry pie, nuts and coffee to 17 members.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — A man who has been arrested for allegedly beating his crippled son because the boy would not stand alone.

The child, 16, of Mrs. Davidson, in a wheelchair condition at Arkansas Children's Hospital in Little Rock, a physician reported to say that he has a skull fracture.

Sheriff Alfred Price said 32-year-old Davidson, a retired school teacher, had been arrested without warrant.

The child has been paralyzed from the waist down all his life because of birth injury.

The sheriff said hospital officials notified state police after the child was taken to Little Rock Saturday. He said Davidson told the postman, Louis Bartolomeo, he had beaten the child because he wouldn't stand up.

Convinced by his wife's statement, Davidson admitted striking the child a few times Saturday.

Price said Davidson knew that the boy was paralyzed.

The sheriff said hospital officials notified state police after the child was taken to Little Rock Saturday. He said Davidson told the postman, Louis Bartolomeo, he had beaten the child because he wouldn't stand up.

Convinced by his wife's statement, Davidson admitted striking the child a few times Saturday.

Price said Davidson knew that the boy was paralyzed.

Panama Troops Seek Out Cubans

By LUIS NOLI

PANAMA (AP) — Panamanian troops today were reported preparing to go into action at any minute against invaders from Cuba held up on the north coast 20 miles from the entrance to the Panama Canal.

A screen of U.S. fighter planes was ordered up over Panama's north coast today to detect the approach of more invaders reported crossing the Caribbean from Cuba. The air patrol was requested by the five-ambassador team sent by the Organization of American States to help end the last-ditch attempt to overthrow Panamanian President Ernesto de la Guardia.

An informed source who reported the imminence of attack on the invaders said the National Guard had held off to protect the 1,000 inhabitants of Nombre de Dios, the coastal town taken over by the invaders who landed last Saturday from Cuba.

Between 200 and 300 guard troops have been deployed around Nombre de Dios since Tuesday.

The government said the invading force in Nombre de Dios now numbered 89, including 84 Cubans, 3 Panamanians, 1 American and 1 Puerto Rican. The identity of the American was not known. The government claims the foreigners were hired by Panamanians in Cuba plotting to overthrow De la Guardia.

The U.S. Air patrol was ordered after Panamanian authorities reported one or two more invasion boats carrying up to 300 men left the Cuban port of Srigidero, on Batabano Bay, Tuesday.

The committee of ambassadors recommended that the OAS Council in Washington urge Prime Minister Fidel Castro's Cuban government to "exhaust all measures to prevent a new invasion front being carried out." Castro has condemned action from Cuban soil against other Latin-American governments and the OAS committee said it had found no evidence that any foreign government was involved in the invasion of Panama.

In a dispatch from Havana, the New York Times reported that Panamanian rebels are plotting a symbolic grab of the canal if they overthrew De la Guardia. The United States has permanent jurisdiction over the waterway and the zone on each side of it under a treaty between Panama and the United States.

Minister of Government Jose D. Bazan told the National Assembly most of the invaders are civilians with criminal records in Cuba or the United States. They were each paid from $200 to $2,000 and were made all sorts of promises in the event of a victory, he said. He claimed about half had belonged to Castro's revolutionary army.

Nevada county was named for the state of the same name because the outline of the county is similar to that of the state of Nevada.

Another Claim in Boys School Fire

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A $25,000 claim was filed against the state yesterday for the death of Roy Chester Powell, 15, of Forrest City, one of 21 victims of a March 5 fire at the Negro Boys Industrial School at nearby Wrightsville.

The claim was filed by Nathaniel Powell of Chicago, the boy's father. A previous claim for $25,000 was filed by the mother, Ida Mae Powell of Forrest City.

Relatives of 16 of the victims now have filed 18 claims totaling $470,000. All charge negligence by school employees for leaving the victims locked in an unsupervised dormitory.

Ex-Clerk Indicted for Shortage

HARRISON, Ark. (AP) — A Boone County Grand Jury yesterday indicted Lessie Williams, former circuit clerk, in connection with an alleged $2,323.77 shortage in the accounts of the clerk's office.

Prosecutor John B. Driver of Marshall said a warrant was issued for her arrest.

The jury returned a no true bill in the case of Paul Young, former county collector, who repaid a $2,684.50 shortage, state auditors said they found in his accounts.

Both Miss Williams and Young had left office when auditors reported the alleged discrepancies.

Number of Tax Reports Increase

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — So far, 6,000 more income tax returns this year than in 1958.

Revenue Commissioner E. B. McLoes of the state Revenue Department said yesterday about 25,000 returns have been filed and predicted a total of 125,000 or 200,000 more than last year.

Deadline for filing is May 15.

Try to Slash Emergency Aid Funds Fail

WASHINGTON (AP) — Foreign aid supporters in the Senate today defeated 54-24 an attempt to slash in half a 200-million-dollar emergency appropriation for economic development loans.

The money would be for use during May and June.

Sen. Allen J. Ellender (D-La.) tried to hold the appropriation to 100 million dollars — the amount voted by the House.

Ellender argued that a lot of money appropriated for loans to underdeveloped areas was being used for other purposes. He said three million dollars are being used to finance housing in Australia for Dutch emigrants from the East Indies.

He called this an example of how dreamy-eyed planners are using money intended for underdeveloped areas.

"I would like to know who in this chamber can classify the Netherlands and Australia as either newly independent or underdeveloped countries?" he asked.

Ellender was fighting to cut in half a proposed 200-million-dollar appropriation for loans in May and June.

He said the fund has also made a $300,000 loan to a company wholly owned by the Italian government for resettlement of Italian immigrants in Brazil.

Senators voted to

Halt Marine Cuts

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senators voted unanimously today to halt a reduction in the Marine Corps ordered by Pentagon leaders in defiance of Congress.

They backed on a big catchall supplemental money bill a rider by Sen. Mike Mansfield (D-Mont.) that would tie up Navy personnel funds unless the strength of the Marines is increased to 200,000.

By a similar voice vote the Senate Wednesday added a rider by Sen. Russell B. Long (D-La.) that would require a minimum Army of 900,000 to tie up Army operating funds.

"I think the politicians who are running the Army ought to sit up and take notice," Majority Leader Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex.) told the Senate.

Congress provided more funds than asked by President Eisenhower last year and directed that the Army be maintained at 900,000 and the Marines at 200,000.

Instead, civilian defense leaders have been reducing both forces, aiming at an Army of 870,000 and Marine Corps of 175,000 by the end of the current fiscal year next June 30.

U. S. Jury Looking at Yell Co. Votes

DANVILLE, Ark. (AP) — A four member committee of the Federal Grand Jury which is investigating last November's congressional race began an inspection of Yell County court records today.

The Grand Jury is seeking to determine if any federal election laws were violated in connection with the unseating of former Rep. Brooks Hays by write-in candidate Dale Altford in the Fifth Congressional District.

Yell County ballots and other records had been impounded in court suit over a local option liquor election, but Circuit Judge Audrey Strait said the Grand Jury or its representatives could inspect the documents here.

Balots from other counties in the Fifth District were impounded by federal order and akin to Little Rock for inspection.

Something About Chicago Sox Peps Up Yanks

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer
What is it about the Chicago White Sox that peps up the New York Yankees?

The Yankees had their first run of the season with the White Sox Wednesday. They went into Comiskey Park below .500 after losing four in a row. Bob Turley, the Yanks' right-handed ace, had lost two straight. And the club hadn't been able to score twice in any of its last 81 innings.

So the Yankees rapped three home runs, scored twice in the first inning and beat the White Sox 5-2. Turley evened his record at 2-2, although giving up nine hits.

That boosted the Yankees to fifth with a .500 record and helped to hand the Cleveland Indians, whose game with Boston was rained out, a 1½-game lead. The Baltimore Orioles remained tied with Chicago for second despite a 7-1 loss at Detroit in a game held to five innings by rain. Kansas City defeated Washington 7-6. In the National League, Milwaukee regained first place with a 9-3 victory over St. Louis, while Philadelphia knocked off Los Angeles 5-4. Cincinnati clobbered the Chicago Cubs 18-8. Pittsburgh beat San Francisco 3-2.

Mickey Mantle, Hank Bauer and Bill Skowron homered for the Yankees, who had eight hits. Mantle's came with a man on in the first off loser Ray Moore (0-2).

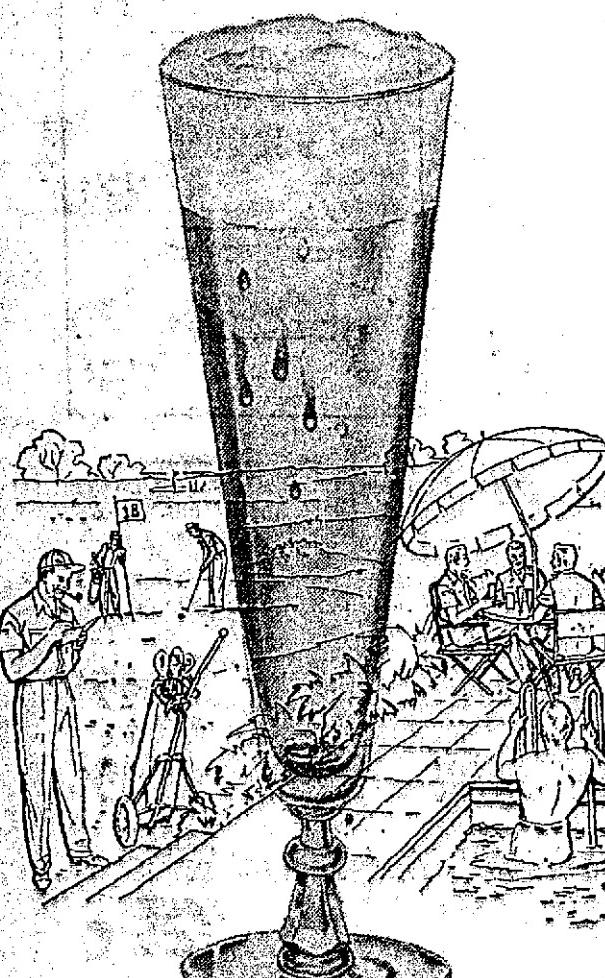

Only Nellie Fox, who was 4-for-5, gave Turley any real trouble. Frank Lary (1-2) became the first complete-game pitcher this season for the Tigers. Larry Osborne and Al Kaline homered for Detroit in a three-run first inning against loser Arnie Portocarrero (0-3).

Hector Lopez drove in four runs for the A's, singling home the winner in the ninth. He also hit a two-run homer. Tom Gorman (1-0) won it in relief after the Nats chased Ralph Terry in a three-run ninth that tied it 6-all. Vito Valentini (0-2) was the loser in relief.

in a row to Cincinnati and fell out of first place.

Shortstop Logan belted his first homer of the year, with a man on, in a three-run second inning against St. Louis Wednesday night. Left fielder Covington blasted his first of the year, also a two-run shot, in the third and the Braves were off to a 9-3 victory.

The win gives Milwaukee a .042 percentage edge over the Los Angeles Dodgers, who slipped to second with a 3-4, ninth-inning defeat at Philadelphia. Cincinnati powered into third, ripping the Chicago Cubs 18-8 as San Francisco skidded to fourth with a 3-2 loss at Pittsburgh.

In the American League, the New York Yankees ended their losing string at four with a 5-2 victory over the Chicago White Sox.

Detroit, after losing six in a row, defeated Baltimore 7-1. Kansas City beat Washington 7-6.

While Logan (1-for-3) and Covington (2-for-4) fought to hold their starting positions, Hank Aaron continued his hot hitting with a 4-for-8 night, including his fifth homer, and lifted his league-leading average to .326. Bill Bruton also homered for the Braves, who collected 15 hits and made Lew Burdette's fourth straight victory a breeze.

Wise Larry Jackson lost his third for the last-place Cards.

The Phils caught up with Dodger southpaw Johnny Podres (2-2) with two runs in the ninth. Four singles did it, with pinch hitter Bob Bowman driving in the tying run and pinch hitter Dave Philley delivering the clincher against reliever Art Fowler. Jack Meyer (2-1) won it in relief of Robin Roberts.

The Reds swung for 18 hits, counting three homers from Frank Robinson, Roy McMillan and Gus Bell. Brooks Lawrence (2-1) was staked to a 10-0 lead in two innings but needed relief help from Bob Mate after a four-run seventh had cut the Reds' edge to 12-8. Moe Drabowsky (1-2) lost it.

The Pirates were blanked on three hits by southpaw Johnny Antonelli (3-1) until they broke loose for a three-run seventh inning capped by Bill Mazeroski's two-out solo homer. A triple by Bob Clemente, a double by Smoky Burgess and Dick Stuart's single tied it. Ron Kline won his first.

The Yankees had their first run of the season with the White Sox Wednesday. They went into Comiskey Park below .500 after losing four in a row. Bob Turley, the Yanks' right-handed ace, had lost two straight. And the club hadn't been able to score twice in any of its last 81 innings.

FRECKLES AND HIS FRIENDS

THE STORY OF MARTHA WAYNE

DETERMINED — Margaret Gray finally saw the results of her work. A secretary attached to the Titan ICBM project in Denver, Colo., she took two weeks' vacation and traveled to Cocoa, Fla. There she watched the successful firing of a Titan.

When the artist Michelangelo was commissioned to paint the ceiling of the Sistine Chapel in the Vatican, he did not want to do the work because he considered himself a sculptor, but his work became the most marvelous of his life.

Acting by pure instinct, Furlong drew his pistol and started toward the shed's corner. But quick as his movement was, Grace grasped his arm. "No, Jim—don't go out there!" she pleaded.

She swung around, holding him with both arms and her body blocking him. He tried to pull back and away from her. "Leave me be," he commanded impatiently, and used his free hand against her. But she clung to him until, holstering his pistol, he brought both hands to the task and freed himself free. Then whirling around to get past her he tramped over a sawbuck and fell headlong.

Furlong got up, ran past the woodshed and peered into the back bedroom window. For a moment, seeing no Empire rider standing there, he thought: The shots weren't fired in the house. Then he saw Ike Rule's bullet-smashed face and knew they had been.

There was a smell of risen dust when Furlong reached the front yard, and a remote rumor of hoofbeats, that sound rapidly fading. And two sets of fresh pony tracks on the lampit office.

"Grace" came up behind him, asked breathlessly, "Are they gone?"

Furlong nodded. He walked past her and got his horse. When he came back Grace cried, "Don't go, Jim! Stay here with me."

There was contempt in the look he gave her, a scoffing disdain in his voice as he said, "Thanks for the lecture."

He was well into the dusty road when a wagon drawn by a trotting team loomed up before him. One of the two obscure shapes or the wagon asked anxiously, "What was that shooting about?"

Identifying Fred Kimble's voice, Furlong said, "Murder—dirty, cold-blooded murder" and loped he was."

Furlong said rankly, "This shyster caused the death of Ike Rule. One hour ago Ike was murdered—while he was in bed so weak he couldn't lift a hand. An innocent man murdered by Empire. He didn't burn West Camp. I did."

"But you couldn't burn the linecamp and rob Jules the same morning," Link objected.

"I didn't rob Pardee," Furlong said.

Link remembered the man he had seen with the saddlebags. Then he recalled something else: an odd thing one of the linecamp men had mentioned at Empire headquarters last night.

"Was there something about that would prove you did it?" Link asked eagerly.

And when Furlong shrugged, Link said, "At Empire I heard Sam Simpson say that Ike did an odd thing before he set fire to the shack. A thing Sam and his partner appreciated."

"You mean, the Sunday suit and new boots and duffle sacks I toted out?" Furlong asked.

"Yes—yes!" Link exclaimed, thoroughly pleased, and surprised that he should be. "That's proof enough for me, Jim, and it clears that somebody else locks up!"

And then he had asked slowly, "How were you at punching cows?"

Link had felt like hitting him. Easing into the old swivel chair and propping his boots on the desk, Link muttered, "I should have."

It wasn't the first time he'd felt like this.

Link understood why he didn't resent what Fyle had done to him. An innocent man couldn't be blamed for breaking out of jail; Fyle was innocent. All he had done was tell the truth about Jules Pardee. Link wondered where Fyle had gone, and how he would fare as a fugitive.

Then Fred Eggleston stepped through the doorway. Blood dribbled from Eggleston's nose and his left eye was swollen almost shut. But that wasn't what caused Sid Link to stare in slack-jawed astonishment—it was the fact that Jim Furlong walked before him.

There was a gun in Furlong's hand, but the weapon seemed less ominous to Sid Link than the scowling savagery of Furlong's whisker-bristled face.

His low voice commanded, "Start talking, Eggleston."

There was a plain appeal for help in Eggleston's good eyes as he asked, "Can't you do something, Sid?"

"Protect me—make this mad man leave me alone!"

Furlong took one step forward and cuffed him. It was hard enough to bring a whimper of distress, and now, talking fast, Eggleston said, "I called on Grace Kimble and learned that Ike Rule was there. Well, I drove to Empire and told them he had failed to convince those men yesterday that they should join him in the crusade against Empire. He had observed a quality of respect in their eyes.

Fyle looked at his watch, holding it close to his eyes, holding it close to his eyes, and saw that his two-hour shift was finished. He got off the boulder and was walking toward the house when Fern came out to the stoop and called, "Breakfast ready."

"And I'm ready for it," Fyle replied.

He didn't know anyone was behind him until a voice said, "Me too."

Whirling, Fyle saw Jim Furlong sitting his horse not more than 20 paces away and demanded incredulously, "How you get 'sw to cuttuhmikte ed."

"You weren't looking," Furlong said.

Fern watched Furlong ride toward the corral, and wondered about his expression—a kind of gravity so intense that even now, as he said good morning to her, some of it remained. The thought came to Fern that he might have quarreled with Grace Kimble. But Jim had been gone all night; a man wouldn't spend that much time with a quarellsome girl.

Mace Gillum came out of the barn, half-tousled and looking like a big boy as he yawned and rubbed sleep-swollen eyes. Fern heard him ask, "How's Ike Rule?"

"Dead," Furlong announced, and dismounted. Two Empire riders caught him alone at Kimble's. They shot him twice in the face."

"How awful—a sick man in bed!" Fern exclaimed and understood that Furlong's expression was a reflection of his savage anger and sense of outrage.

She went inside and set a place for him at the table.

Crossing the yard to the windmill she climbed to its platform and peered across tumpled hills now bathed in first sunlight. Recalling the many times she had come to this high perch as girl, watching to see if her father was coming for supper, Fern felt a familiar sense of lacy and loneliness. A place didn't seem right without a man on it. The grief for her parents had been equal, for she had loved them both dearly; yet it was her father she missed most when night's deepening shadows came, or when winter storms lashed the house at night. A woman could do what had to be done on a place, but there was no feeling of security without a man around. Now there were three men in the house.

But soon they would be gone. To ride against Empire, to do what her father had wanted to do. And some of them might not come back.

There was no sign of riders anywhere. Yet, later, when the three horses had been saddled and the men were mounted, Furlong said, "You'll be having visitors Fern. I hope they won't shoot a woman—but I wouldn't depend on it."

"You think Empire will come here today?" Gillum asked.

"Today or tomorrow," Furlong replied. He gave Fern a thoughtful look, adding, "Cle Veto is like an animal."

Fern shrugged. "I'll take nothing from Cle Veto," she promised, smiling up at Furlong.

"But I have your rifle," Buchanan Fyle said worriedly. "How can you defend yourself?"

"With a kettle of hot water, kept on the stove for that purpose."

"Good!" Furlong praised, and now a slow grin altered his whisker-shagged jaws. "If we had three more like you we'd whip Empire in one week's time."

But Mace Gillum was sobered as he said, "Don't rifle them, Fern. There's no telling what that bunch will do."

Even Fyle, who had been so optimistic and enthusiastic last night, was a trifle glum. "Are you sure you'll be all right without your rifle?" he asked.

Fern Lindstrom nodded.

Pork, Beef Featured at Some Markets

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Pork and beef battle to a stand-off this week to gain the attention of the bargain-seeking food shopper.

In addition, pork heads the federal government's "plentiful foods" list this month. For the first time since November 1958 the promotional drums are beat-ing furiously. "How you get 'sw to cuttuhmikte ed."

In both cases featured buys are about evenly split between the more expensive cuts and the bargain items. Specials on steaks, for example, are no more numerous than those for chuck roast and stewing beef, while smoked hams run about even with less expensive types of pork.

Leg of lamb also is featured in a number of places, but specials on fryers are few and far between.

While most Americans still eat more fresh vegetables than processed ones, supplies of both canned and frozen vegetables are plentiful. Statistics show we eat about 85 pounds of fresh vegetables per person a year compared with 44 pounds of canned and 7½ of frozen.

Best of the fresh this week are artichokes, pascal celery, cooking greens such as spinach, kale and collard; parsnips, turnips, potatoes and iceberg lettuce.

Rated as good buys by produce men are broccoli, new cabbage, topped or bunched carrots, eggplants, sweet corn, pens, peppers, radishes from nearby farms, sweet potatoes, mushrooms and nearby parsnips.

Federal seems predicted an onion crop 30 per cent below last year.

Prices suffered a notable decline this week, however, due to increasing supplies from Texas and New York fields.

Just about every variety of citrus is on the best buy list among fruits. This might be expected with the latest estimates showing the total crop 30 per cent ahead of last year and 3 per cent above average. Other bargains are apples, pineapples and bananas.

lips and a three other teen-aged boys were riding went out of control and overturned on Highway 92 west of Green Forest.

The other boy escaped injury. Phillip Phillips was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Phillips, who live about 12 miles southwest of Berryville.

He was elected in a closing session of an annual convention yesterday.

New vice presidents are Ritchie Morgan of Camden, Mrs. Hazel Byrd of Jerome, James Williams of Mingo and Mrs. Oletha Hixson of Manila. Joe C. Hornberger of Manila was named secretary treasurer.

MONTICELLO, Ark. (AP)—John Alfred Barlow, 59, of Monticello, was injured fatally last night in a highway accident about six miles southeast of here on Highway 33.

Barlow and two companions were returning from a fishing trip when their pickup truck crashed through a bridge railing and went off the highway. Officers said the vehicle apparently was forced off by another.

Barlow died later at a Monticello hospital. His companions were injured only slightly and did not require hospitalization.

Surviving Barlow are his mother, Mrs. Kate Barlow, a son Louis, and a brother, Levi. He operated a trucking company here.

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Measles cases rose sharply in Arkansas last week, the Arkansas Health Department disclosed today.

The department's weekly statistical report listed 74 cases of measles for the week that ended last Saturday, compared to 16 the previous week.

However, the total of cases last week was well under the 104 in a similar period last year.

SURROUNDED BY BANKS

British Press Fires Blast at Montgomery

LONDON (AP)—British press conducted blast at Field Marshal Montgomery today, deeming the blind old soldier chose the worst possible moment to launch a TV attack on the quality of U.S. leadership.

The papers expressed fear Montgomery's derogatory remarks on the eve of the East-West foreign ministers' talks might have dealt a damaging blow to British-American unity.

In an hour-long film televised Tuesday night, "America by the Columbia" Broadcasting System, Montgomery said that American leadership of the free world is suspect and declared that Britain had come forward to supply the consistency needed by the Western Alliance.

The interview was shown on U.S. screens not long after Montgomery arrived in Moscow for a private visit which some British leaders have condemned.

Montgomery, who filmed his interview before making his self-appointed mission to Moscow to examine what alls East-West relations also fired a scatter shot at President Eisenhower, John Foster Dulles and Secretary of State Christian A. Herter.

These American leaders, the wartime hero asserted, are "people who are not very well" and added that this is "not good," commented the Tabloid Daily Sketch. "Monty is dead right when he says that soldiers should stay out of politics. If only he would take his own good advice."

The Independent News Chronicle said the references to the health of America's leaders were couched in the worst possible way, "and to add the taunt about Western leadership passing to Britain is like a small boy pulling his thumb to his nose."

"What will Montgomery have to say to Soviet Premier Khrushchev?" the Daily Sketch asked. "We can only stand well back across our fingers — and pray," it said.

In his free-wheeling criticism Montgomery charged that American leadership had perhaps slipped a little because Eisenhower, Herter and Dulles "aren't very well, very fit."

American leadership, he said, could be characterized by "lack of decision at the top level."

Paraguay President Lifts Siege State

ASUNION, Paraguay (AP)—Paraguay's President Alfredo Stroessner has once again lifted the state of siege kept in force with occasional breaks since 1957. The government said political turmoil had abated enough to resume normal operations.

Six Americans Killed in France

CHATEAUX, France (AP)—Six Americans were killed today in the collision of a truck and automobile near here.

The Americans were from the U.S. air station at Chateaux. They included a man and wife, their two daughters and a son, and a woman from another family.

Names of the dead were withheld pending notification of kin.

Says U. S. Is Fed Up With Price Rises

By STERLING F. GREEN

WASHINGTON (AP)—An industrialist said today that American consumers are fed up with rising prices and more and more are buying cheaper foreign products.

Unless labor and management curb the wage-price spiral, the consumer will do the job in a manner painful to both employers and working men, Herman W. Steinhaus, cautioned in an address prepared for the U.S. Chamber of Commerce.

"If we are to meet the present challenge of foreign competition we will need domestic prices which make such foreign competition less attractive," said Steinhaus, board chairman of Bridgeport (Conn.) Brass Co. and a former president of the U.S. Chamber.

To make these lower prices we will certainly have to stop not only this upward spiral of wage increases and greater fringe benefits but will have to get greater productivity from all of our people on our payrolls.

"Otherwise we will lose the business and there will be a new spiral. It will be a spiral of statistics of growing unemployment."

Steinhause told the businessmen the impact of foreign competition has only begun to be felt. "We are in for serious trouble," he said.

The opposite view was voiced at another chamber session by Rep. Hale Boggs (D-La.) who noted it has "become fashionable to talk about the United States pricing itself out of world markets."

"To be sure, we are facing increased competition in world markets," he said. "But this is a welcome sign of renewed economic vigor in Western Europe and elsewhere which we worked so hard to promote."

Boggs cautioned the chamber against being stampeded by the hotter competition into a protectionist policy.

Michigan Is Still Having Money Trouble

LANSING, Mich. (AP)—The State of Michigan, unable to solve its ready cash problems, is passing up this week's pay days.

Among the 325 state-salaried workers to go without pay checks will be the 144 state legislators who in four months have failed to solve Michigan's fiscal emergency.

Democratic Gov. G. Mennen Williams, at loggerheads with the Republican-controlled Legislature, announced Tuesday that funds were lacking and this week's $100,000 payroll would not be met.

Also to be out of more temporarily are the state's eight Supreme Court justices and all its Circuit Court judges, as well as legislative staff members.

A five-million-dollar payroll for 28,000 state employees due May 11, Williams had no comment on this.

The governor's move followed a new deadlock in the Legislature.

At a caucus, majority Republicans of the State Senate refused to go along with a Democratic plan to liquidate the 50-million-dollar veterans trust fund unless a one-cent increase in the 3 per cent state sales tax was tacked on to the bill.

Williams, who has been mentioned for the 1960 Democratic presidential nomination, termed the situation a "disaster of the first magnitude" and said it was impossible to get cash in time for this week's pay days. Blaming

Republicans, he said he would try to "hold the damages to a minimum."

He said the bypassing of the legislators' pay day was "only a coincidence of the calendar."

A falling off in tax income from the 1958 recession year, and heavy drains on welfare funds for unemployment, burdened Michigan cities have contributed to the financial dilemma.

With its general fund dwindling Michigan faces millions of dollars in obligations for which no provision has been made.

The veterans fund has been held in trust since its creation after World War II to aid needy veterans. The liquidation plan would require the fund's ultimate restoration through new tax sources.

B-47 Jet Has Developed Weaknesses

WASHINGTON (AP)—The B-47 jet bomber, the present chief weapon of the Strategic Air Command, has developed structural weaknesses that are giving the Air Force a headache.

This has been disclosed by Air Force officers before the House Appropriations Committee in discussions of the feasibility of continuous airborne alert against possible enemy air attacks. The house record was released earlier this week.

Maj. Gen. M. A. Fugson, deputy chief of staff for the Air Force, told the committee that structural fatigue has shown up in some parts of the aircraft.

Air Force officials likened the situation to that in which a paper clip can be bent repeatedly until finally breaks at the bending point.

Gen. Flynns H. Griswold, vice chief of SAC, said a modification program designed to eliminate failures has been completed. He called the B-47 "a very fine airplane."

He described the information on the structural failures as "old

Can't Tell What That Russian Said

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Mayor George Christopher, who wants the two summits conference held in San Francisco, got a telegram Tuesday from Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev. "It isn't quite sure what he said."

A translator at the battle department quoted Khrushchev as saying: "It is not the government of the U.S.S.R. but I, who am going this type of meeting in San Francisco."

Translators at the University of California and the University of California School decided the premier said: "The government of the U.S.A. does not object in particular to the realization of this conference in San Francisco if all the participants in this case will agree."

The message came on an English-language teletype machine which does not have counterparts for all the Russian letters.

"At least he didn't say 'no,'" the mayor said.

Canadian Rail Set Strike Date

OTTAWA (CP)—A strike date May 1 on the Canadian National Railways was called off yesterday night after union leaders abandoned their key demand to retain freedom on modest oil-line diesel pulling freight and yard trains.

Under the new agreement, the inventories will not be dropped summarily. They will be removed gradually by promotion, retirement or death and replacement will not be hired. The process will take an estimated 15 years. The CNR also agreed to an additional 1/4 per cent pay boost recommended by a conciliation board.
